

Surface Temperature Between the Late 1600s and Late 1700s: These maps show changes simulated by the GISS climate model in response to solar variability (top), volcanic eruptions (second row), both solar variability and volcanic eruptions (third row), and from surface temperature proxies (historical data, tree-rings, corals, ice cores).